Developer Gains Rezoning Of Land

Over 17 acres in a village within the limits of the Washington Square Shopping Center and Washington Creek were rezoned to residential use by the Petaluma City Council.

The rezoning, from single-family residential to residential medium density, was the first step in the Village Quarter Development Co. which will build a new 250-unit apartment complex on the site.

In another matter the commission will continue to consider the rezoning of the 100-acre parcel owned by the late J. Paul and Lucille M. Mendenhall, which was rezoned from residential to residential medium density.

The rezoning was approved by the commission 5-2. Councilman Robert Kelly was the only member to vote against the rezoning.

The rezoning will be effective on Jan. 15, 1973.
