

News of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware

The Philadelphia Inquirer city & region

Section B

Tuesday, September 11, 1979

By TOM FOX

Bouquet sent from the heart

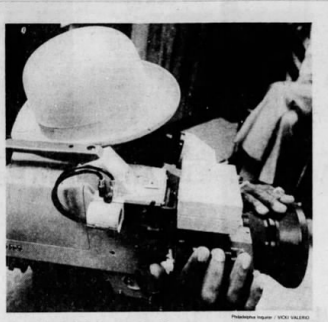

Writing in a crazy way to make a living... it's a risk on an unusual career...

Sometimes you get telephone calls, too, like the one I got from Ben Burroughs...

The urge to write... I've been doing a week for 20 years...

"I did it for years," Ben Burroughs said... "I wasn't looking for money..."

Life's mission... "I write about love to put an end to hate..."

Essential tools of Mike Boyer's trade: a videotape camera and a peat-gray derby

All dressed up And every place to go

Mike Boyer, 66, is a news cameraman for K.W. (Channel 12) and is in charge of videotaping...

Boyer's wardrobe sets him apart in his field and, he says, gives him an advantage

Carroll must repay surplus, controller says

Unless the City Administrative Board takes otherwise, former Deputy Mayor Philip R.T. Carroll will have to return as estimated $2.8 million overpayments...

Reimert autopsy said to be vague

An autopsy performed on the body of murdered Upper-Merion High School teacher Susan Reimert produced results so vague that it may be difficult to form any decent conclusions about her death...

Prime proponent

Before leaving the mayor's office, Carroll, who was in charge of the city's civil service...

In Bridesburg area, new hope over schools

A group of Bridesburg-area parents approached hopeful that they could regain the option to send their children to Frankford High School...

Blackwell wants vote overseen by state, U.S.

Lester E. Blackwell, the Governor's Secretary for the Commonwealth, said in his office today that the state had never intervened in local elections...

Frankford High Principal James Peters rally yesterday