New reward for leads

By RUSS CARMACK April 14, 2003 Publication: The News Tribune Page: B03 Word Count: 147

About 30 volunteers, police explorers, friends and family met at Lincoln Park on Sunday to distribute new reward leaflets asking for information on who killed Jeremy Britt-Bayinthavong, 5, and Kimberly Riley, 19, last Thanksgiving. The reward has grown to $26,000, thanks to family efforts. In the background, family members and friends taped up flyers at this bus stop shelter and asked businesses along Hosmer between 72nd and 96th streets to post the flyer. Riley and Britt-Bayinthavong were killed when a gunman walked up to a South End house where they gathered for Thanksgiving and opened fire in a lower story window. Information on the reward fund is on the Web site www.forjeremyandkim.com.
