

VAN HORNE SEEKS FIREMEN WHO SKIP BEER

By PATRICK LACKEY
Des Moines Staff Writer

VAN HORNE, IA. — The Van Horne City Council and Friday is "rebuilding" to form a new fire department.

The city council has a list of 10 names of firemen who did not show up for the job. All 10 members of the council are on the list.

The council will meet after the council heard from the fire station and assumed higher control over the department's budget.

Friday's City Council press release concluded: "We feel that the fire department is in a very dangerous situation and they will be more than happy to cooperate in the matter of fire protection. We hope this clears up an unpleasant situation."

But many persons in this Boone County town population about 800 are siding with the firemen who quit.

Mayor W. H. Over of Van Horne, Administrative, sent a letter to the fire department last Friday. The letter says the department doesn't have anybody else to hire and that the firemen should be paid for their services.

The city fathers of this town have got the speaking ability of Muhammad Ali, but get the results of Bugs Bunny.

Mayor Robert Duda said the council wants "a conventional fire department." He declined to elaborate whether or that meant the previous fire department was not conventional.

Duda said, "We'll get a new fire department going. It's not urgent." He said the department should be formed within a month.

Duda has changed the locks on the firehouse and has distributed 10 new keys.

"Duda has been made with several interested citizens who have volunteered to help in this regard," said the release.

The previous fire department was rated adequate by the insurance firms. Mayor Duda indicated that the complaints against the fire department were not connected with its ability to fight fires.

Body of missing woman found in Butler County

By JACK HOVELSON

WATSFORD, IA. — A body found in a ditch near Shell Rock was identified Friday as Julia Ann Bennett, a 19-year-old cocktail waitress who disappeared on her way to work last Nov. 22.

An autopsy was performed Friday morning in Waverly, but "preliminary results were inconclusive," authorities said late in the day.

Officers from Butler and Bremer counties, the Waverly police department, and the Iowa Bureau of Criminal Investigation (BCI) have declined to list the cause as a murder — although last July several affidavits, the body was made. It was spotted Thursday by a county maintenance worker operating a road grader.

The body was found in Butler County, one-half a mile from the Bremer County line. Bennett was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Bennett of rural Clarksville in Butler County, but she had been living with her grandmother, Mrs. Malita Bennett of Waverly in Bremer County at the time of her disappearance.

Because the body was recovered in Butler County, the investigation is under the jurisdiction of officials of that county, although the probe is headquartered in Waverly.

Discovery of the body stirred comparisons to two other cases, one here and another in a neighboring city.

Last June the body of a young girl, partially clad body of 14-year-old Valerie Lynn Gossamer was found on a creek bank under a bridge on a busy street in Waverly. She was last reported seen alive near her home on Oct. 15, 1975, but no arrests were made and that murder case remains open.

Incidents similar to the Bennett case in that of Sheila Lynn Foley, 18-year-old Hamilton girl whose body was found last Dec. 10 in a ditch along a heavily dirt road between Osborn and Harding.

Foley disappeared four days after Bennett was last seen. Foley was last seen alive on Osborn's main street. Bennett was walking along Waverly's main street, when she disappeared. Waverly and Osborn are approximately 10 miles apart.

Bennett was on her way to the first lounge in Waverly where she was employed. Foley was in a car parked outside a downtown Osborn tavern.

Natural gas plant planned near Ventura

The Des Moines Register has been advised by the Federal Power Commission that Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, Neb., is planning to build a liquefied natural gas plant and storage facility near Ventura.

The 230-acre site is four miles east of Epworth and five miles southwest of here. The storage tank will have a capacity of 100,000 barrels of liquefied natural gas, equivalent to two billion cubic feet of natural gas.

The two tanks were discovered at about the identical time of day — between 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon, but came from three counties apart. Each was found slightly less than two miles from the nearest town.

The cause of Foley's death has not been decided by the BCI or county officers. Gary Lee Prater, 25, of Osborn, had been charged with murdering Foley, and he is awaiting trial in Waverly on a charge of rape.

The Federal Power Commission has given Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, Neb., authority to build a liquefied natural gas plant and storage facility near Ventura.
