

On Today's Editorial Page Mr. Carter On Israel (Continued) B.O. Withdrawal

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

FINAL

VOL. 99 NO. 305

15 SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1977

15

FIRST AID: A girl holding a gas cylinder to the forehead of a schoolmate who was shaken up in the collision of a school bus and a tractor-trailer north of Fayetteville, Mo., Friday. Thirteen youngsters were injured. (UPI Telephoto)

Social Security Bill Is Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—After a tactical retreat by the administration, the Senate has completed action on a bill that would raise rates of federal disability and additional taxes, mostly from employees, to shore up the Social Security system.

Will Reward Spur Clues To Bomber?

St. Louis County police hope that a $25,000 reward will bring information on a series of car bombings—two of them in South County.

Jeweler Fires His .45 At Fleeing Robbers

By KEVIN MORGAN of the Post-Dispatch Staff

Meteor Seen Falling In Northern U.S.

FLINT, Mich., Nov. 5 (UPI)—A "ball of fire" that lit the skies over scattered areas of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota Friday apparently was a meteor that fell in several pieces, authorities said.

Spared Bodies Of 3 Oil Men Found In Ecuadorian Jungle

QUITO, Ecuador, Nov. 5 (UPI)—Twenty-one polepoled-up spears were found scattered in the jungle before the bodies of the three men were found.

BIAS SETTLEMENT: Readers Digest has agreed to pay more than $1.5 million to settle a four-year-old sex discrimination suit.

More Rain

LAST OF THE BIG BUCKS?

DOUBLE PLEASURE:

BIAS SETTLEMENT: Readers Digest has agreed to pay more than $1.5 million to settle a four-year-old sex discrimination suit.

More Rain

LAST OF THE BIG BUCKS?

DOUBLE PLEASURE:

PRESIDENT AMOY: The excursion vessel President moored on the pier after its arrival Friday from New Orleans. The 308-foot steamer will have its engines converted to diesel.