Symphony attracts generous crowd

By CONNIE PETTY Albany Democrat-Herald

It was the largest turnout — only about 4,800 people missed Thursday night's Oregon Symphony concert in Monthauk Herpark. But the audience exceeded 12,000 — the most received since the Albany Parks and Recreation Department inaugurated the free concert series in 1981...

was best I could come up with," he explained. Community workers Robert Glass and Oscar B. Hall both wore black, except for Hall's white fur scarf. Their companion, Pat Light, explained, "They're going to the symphony, you should dress for the symphony."

restaurant, served as waiter. Bishop wore a white shirt, pink bow tie, pink and white and striped shorts, and white tennis shoes. Another group had planned to dine in the park but the only empty tables, including Gourey's, were "nearly" reserved.

Corvallis library to expand

COVALLIS — Books and other materials in the Corvallis library will be moved to a former grocery store later this month as an expansion and renovation project gets under way.

The library four space is to be in the former grocery store building, 1810 S.W. Grand Blvd. Volunteers are needed to pack and unpack books. To volunteer, call 77-6688.

Construction for the new library is set for Oct. 24. City officials are asking that construction be held until the week of Sept. 4 and Oct. 4.

The original library was built in 1931 and expanded in 1961. The original library was designed by architect Foster Bellhacker. The addition was designed by Bellhacker's partner, Lew Crutcher. Crutcher, Thomas and Associates of Seattle designed the 1980 addition.

The Seattle architect was requested by the commission of Seattle's Pike Place Market Convention Bureau and the King County Courthouse in Seattle.

Posse to renew search for girl

Members of the Lane County Sheriff's Posse will renew the search for a missing 13-year-old girl in the area around the Santiam Junction this weekend.

About 10 members of the posse will look for signs of Elizabeth Lea Pickle in the area south of the state highway. District maintenance crews Saturday and Sunday, Sheriff Art Barkack said Thursday. Members of the Sheriff's Explorer Post may also help, he said.

The search is part of the posse's annual reorientation exercise. Barkack said. Posse members must meet requirements each year set by the Oregon Highway Division maintenance crews Saturday and Sunday, Sheriff Art Barkack said Thursday. Members of the Sheriff's Explorer Post may also help, he said.

Pickle disappeared from the area July 26. She had been living at the maintenance complex with her mother and stepfather. Lane and other agencies are looking for her. Lane posse members and officials from police agencies in six other Oregon counties conducted intensive searches for Pickle in a 30-square-mile area around the junction for about 10 days in July. No trace of the girl has been found.

Neighbors oppose firm's request

By BOB LOTHAN Albany Democrat-Herald

A large amount of asphalt and concrete needed for mid-valley highway and building projects has brought a request from the Morse firm, construction company, to be able operate part of an Albany Back Products site around the clock.

The commissioner listened to opponents and company representatives Wednesday, and proposed a decision until Aug. 28. Corvallis City of Echo Road said she also opposes the 24-hour proposal because the hours it would cause more noise at night.
